

Bad Netiquette Stinks 2

Overview

Students play a board game to review what they have learned about netiquette.

Materials / Preparation

- Computer lab or computer connected to an LCD projector
- Video - “Bad Netiquette Stinks”
- Attachment 1 - Game board
- Attachment 2 - Playing cards and game pieces
- Scissors

25 minutes

Introduction

If they have not done so, have students watch the video “Bad Netiquette Stinks.” Then say, When you add an “n” to the word “etiquette,” you get “netiquette.” As we’ve just learned, netiquette is a set of rules for practicing good manners online. Can anyone give me some examples of using good netiquette? (Not typing in all caps, not sending spam messages, not sending mean messages) If you are online with someone who is using bad netiquette, what should you do? (Tell a trusted adult) Now, we are going to play a board game to see how well we’ve remembered what we learned about netiquette.

Activity

Place students in groups of two. Each group needs one set of both attachments (the game board and the playing cards/game pieces). Students will take turns reading the playing cards and following the instructions. The first student in each group to get to Pete’s Lair at the end of the game board wins.

Hint: If your students are just developing their reading skills, you can read the playing cards aloud to them. Divide your class in half, and assign each half a different character. When you read for character 1, half of the class will move. The other half will move when you read for character 2.

Follow-Up

Have students write out their own playing cards to add to the game.

Board Game

How well do you know your netiquette? Answer the questions to move ahead. Get to Pete's Lair first to win!

How to Play

1. One player picks a card and reads it aloud. The other player follows the card's instructions. Answer correctly to move ahead; stay put for wrong answers.
2. Switch readers until one player reaches Pete's Lair. If you run out of cards, mix them up and keep playing.

Note: Players can be on the same space at the same time.
